

Get serious!!! In regards to the Half-Time Show of the Super Bowl, I am sick of the non-sense, what in the heck are you going to investigate? What are you going to uncover, the other breast? Please tell me you have better things to do with my tax dollars? I am sick of a bunch of overly sensitive people dicating what I see on television.

You want to investigate? Okay fine, tell me why my cable bill has increased by more than 120% just in the last 3 years (I have few options). Let us not forget, these same cable companies (Cox, Comcast, etc...) making claims that with deregulation consumers would have lower rates and more choices. Well guess you freaking geniuses none of that has occurred; I pay more and receive fewer channels. But of course your agency can worry about little old things like cable rates, when you have to handle those important uncovered breast investigations. I know you are going to go on with your investigation of the "UNCOVERED BREAST CAPER", please tell me on thing: what are you attempting to prove or disprove. We all saw the breast, if they say it was an accident how in the heck are you going to prove they are lying? Finally, don't you have better things to spend my tax dollars on?

I know it is because of the kids, they were scared for life!!!! They be in fear of a big breast for the rest of their lives.
